Section 2: Job Summary

This is an exciting opportunity to join a clinical team delivering care within a Virtual Ward, one of the first of its kind to be established in the Irish Health Service.

Virtual Ward (VW)

VWs have emerged as a viable clinical intervention, enabled by technology, that is a safe and efficient alternative to bedded care. VWs support patients who would otherwise be in hospital to receive the acute care, monitoring, and treatment (equivalent to that received in an acute hospital) they need in their own home. This supports early transfer out of hospital and augments acute bed capacity.

VWs have yielded strong results in other jurisdictions (notably in the UK). Internationally, integrated healthcare systems are extending or introducing the VW model. While there will be adaptations of the VW model to the Irish health system, the model of care introduced in Ireland will be aligned with leading practice internationally. International studies have also generated a bank of evidence for VWs indicating benefits for patients, staff, and hospitals:

- Home setting drives improved outcomes for patients with some conditions
- Reduces demand for and expands acute bed capacity
- Improves patient and staff experience, more time for 1-1 patient communications and care
- Facilitates new ways of working for staff.

This care will be currently under the governance of cardiac, respiratory, general medical and urology consultants. The service will be fully aligned or integrated with other service development programmes and services in the community.

A fundamental principle of the Irish VW Model of Care is the provision of 24/7 consultant governed and nurse-led acute clinical care with clear lines of clinical responsibility and governance. Patient care on the VW will be delivered via a variable combination of technology, remote monitoring, and virtual and in-person face-to-face care. The VW clinical governance model will align and integrate with existing clinical governance structures (including on-call arrangements) at acute hospital sites. A VW Hub is established in each acute hospital site to enable VW staff to effectively monitor and manage operations on the ward. As the VW model matures, it is expected that the model will expand, in line with international models, to include additional medical and surgical specialities.

Purpose of the post

To support the Clinical Nurse Manager 2 in the total management of the Ward and deputise in his / her absence.

To provide direct comprehensive nursing care to patients using evidence-based practice and adjusting resources to ensure continuity of care.
